

I urge the FCC to proceed with caution and do proper testing of BPL before implementing it. I have seen reports showing significant interference to broadcast, amateur, and even emergency communications and reception. We must explore technologies to deliver broadband to the last mile. We must also be careful that implementing such technologies does not interfere with other licensed activities.

Thanks,